Below are the terms and conditions on which Lambdadevs operates.

The terms "we", "us", "its" or "our" refers to Lambdadevs. The terms "client", "the client", "clients", "they", "their", "User" or "customer" refers to any individual who is accepting this Agreement.

It is mandatory for clients to read the document carefully and sign this before starting any project with Lambdadevs.

Copyrights Policies

At Lambdadevs we give value to our client's choice and to the website our client is inspired with, however, we do not replicate things to the extent of plagiarism. We do not copy images, content or anything else that can lead to a legal action. Images copyrights are seriously handled at Lambdadevs, as images obtained from any Search Engines are subject to copyright. Therefore, Lambdadevs herein takes no responsibility of images, content or any other material provided by the client for the completion of the project. Any material provided by client should be self-produced/purchased or having legal copyrights to use.

Security of Website

Lambdadevs being professional web design agency takes all security measures for the client's website and practices industry standards. However, no website can be secured at all times and there is a possibility of hacking, injections, malware, viruses, spyware and some other security breaches. So, Lambdadevs takes no legal or financial responsibility for any security issue which may occur. We backup client's website at regular intervals and can restore the most recent backup at no cost.

Technical Support Policy

Lambdadevs gladly entertains support inquiries and tries to resolve any technical issues as soon as possible. Multiple clients may generate support inquiries in a single day, in that case, requests are resolved in the order received from clients. For technical support, clients may send their inquiries to info@lambdadevs.com.

Payment Policy

At Lambdadevs, payment is divided in three instalments as following:
  i)   35%   payment at the starting of the project
  ii)   35%   payment after half completion of the project
  iii)   30%   payment at the delivery of the project
  Unless stated otherwise at the time of contract.

Due Payment Policy

If a client fails to pay instalments as per contract, Lambdadevs has the right to suspend the website services including email accounts and any other web related services. If client has not made payment in full amount after 1 month of project completion, the ownership rights of client's website will be forfeited.

Ownership policy

At Lambdadevs, a client has the ownership rights of their website once the full payment of the project has been made after its completion. The moment client clears all their payments they have the right to edit, update or delete any section or content of their choice. Once all the credentials are handed over to client, Lambdadevs takes no responsibility of any error that may be caused directly or indirectly by client.

Advertisement Policy

Lambdadevs uses signatures in website's footer as proof of work. Client may NOT change the link until unless a whole new website is developed by any other third party. Lambdadevs reserves the right to use any material created by us to advertise for portfolio purposes in forms of flyers, brochures, social media, blog and more without client's approval.

Ethical Policies

Lambdadevs strictly follows the policy of not producing or distributing content violating the moral or ethical standards of society which may include but is not limited to racism, bullying, bigotry, sexism, abuse or anything society doesn't take as moral.

Behavioural Policy

We expect every client to treat Lambdadevs team members in a polite, decent, and professional manner. Any kind of disrespectful behaviour, harassment or abuse is unbearable. This behaviour may include but is not limited to written abuse, unnecessary emails, compelling to deliver project before the date of completion. If the activity continues, this may lead to the termination of the contract.

Client's Satisfaction

Lambdadevs is committed to offer services in a timely, efficient, budget friendly manner. We treat all of our clients in a polite and professional manner at all times. We deliver quality work which delights our clients. We are always available to help.
